

Sometimes you walk past what other people see. So what have you missed that other people have seen? If I am worried about another resident's well-being I let staff know and the staff appreciate this.

(Resident)